

New Deal Programs

Program	Description of Program	What groups benefited from this program?	What groups opposed this program? What were the limits of this program's effectiveness?
Civilian Conservation Corps (CCC) 1933	A program established in the early days of FDR's presidency. Employees worked on environmental projects, often in the National Parks planting trees or building roads/shelters. They lived in barracks, ate in cafeterias, and were paid a monthly salary. The Army oversaw the program.	Young, unemployed, rural men who were able to find jobs with the program.	Some feared that this was a socialist program. The CCC did not hire women, and only a few minorities were hired during its existence.
Agricultural Adjustment Act (AAA) 1933
National Recovery Administration (NRA) 1933
Tennessee Valley Authority (TVA) 1933

Continues on next page

New Deal Programs, continued

Program	Description of Program	What groups benefited from this program?	What groups opposed this program? What were the limits of this program's effectiveness?
Works Project Administration (WPA) 1935
Wagner Act (1935)
Social Security Act (1935)			